

PHILOSOPHY, TERROIR & WINEYARDS

The philosophy of this new and fresh company is based on territoriality and traditions. Wines will be produced only from native grapes, seeking out the oldest clones. Sicily has a particular microclimate, and thanks to the influence of Etna and the prevailing winds on each slope, completely different microzones have been created.

We have studied the territory extensively and carefully evaluated the production areas, especially considering climate change, prolonged drought and rising temperatures. We decided to plant our new vineyards between 500 and 600 metres above sea level, on a mixed terrain of clay, limestone and stones, facing southeast and southwest, only 50 km from mount Etna. We will have a unique land where the temperature fluctuations between day and night will give our wines unique organoleptic properties.

WINE IN THE DESTINY & CUTRERA GRAPE VARIETY

The Cutrera family has always owned an old historic vineyard, cared for by various generations. This vineyard was planted by great-grandfather Salvatore (Zu Turi) and had a peculiarity: it was made up of a mix of grape varieties. Around 2000, the Sicilian region began a search to find relic grape varieties that survived phylloxera or grape varieties that had disappeared.

In our vineyard, researchers identified two particular grape varieties, a white and a red one. The red is an old clone of Nero d'Avola, very particular but almost abandoned because it was not as productive as the new strains.

The white, on the other hand, is unpublished, not connected to any grape variety; the only specimens were in our vineyard. This Cutrera grape variety was bred at the Regional Center for Viticultural and Agricultural Biodiversity and Viticultural Unit of Marsala, and some companies are already experimenting with it. We discovered this incredible story in September 2023 only after the company's formation: therefore, we will be a company with a white family grape variety and a unique Nero d'Avola.
